

Get Assessed with the Same Advanced Technology as UFC Athletes.

If you have experienced trauma to your head - especially common in contact sports - you may have underlying neck issues.

- Head impacts often lead to neck injuries following events like hits, tackles, or falls.
- Persistent symptoms may stem from hidden problems with how your neck controls and senses movement (sensorimotor deficits), which can delay your full recovery.
- These deficits are linked to a higher risk of future injury.

We offer the same advanced NeckCare System™ technology used for elite athletes to objectively identify and evaluate hidden neck problems.. It has a wireless sensor worn comfortably on your head to provide objective measurements of key functions of your neck.
